Caledonian Society Honor Burns' Memory

Many Gather in Time-Honored Custom to Pay Tribute to Works of Famous Scottish Bard.

Members of Coleman Caledonian Society and their friends gathered in the I.O.O.F. hall on Friday to pay tribute to the memory of the Scott of "Rob Roy" Burns. Approximately eight persons sat down at the banquet tables, Dave Gillette, first president of the society, presiding.

President Mrs. John Anderson welcomed the visitors on behalf of the society. Chairman George opened the program with the song, "The Hounds of Scotland," followed by a few remarks on the life of Burns.

With head held high and with firm step, Archie McCulloch proudly carried the banner while the Society's delegate, the Chaplain, called the pipe giving the address. Following dinner the toast to "The King" was given by Mr. Harry Barnes, Mr. John Kerr, Mr. Parker, gave the toast to "The Immortal Memory." He touched on his trip to Scotland last year, visiting many scenes made famous by Burns. Burns, he said, featured the freedom of thought and speech that all his life he had given to the people living in dictatorial countries. Rev. A. E. Larke gave the toast "To the Lassies." He quoted several pieces of Burns' work including the poem "Ae Fond Kiss." Father J. T. Dunbar gave the toast to "The Land of Our Adoption." Father J. T. Dunbar gave the toast to "The Land of Our Adoption."

WEDDINGS

YURIS-RYPYEN

The marriage of a well-known couple took place at Holy Ghost church, Coleman, on Saturday, when Helen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Rypien, of Coleman, became the bride of John Rypien, only son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Yuris, of Hillcrest. Attendants to the bridal couple were the Misses Mary Rypien, sister of the bride, and Violet Sapets, and the Messrs. Dan Sprout and Charles Yakubiec.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father, to the strains of the wedding march. She was beautifully robed in an ankle-length dress of white satin, with veil and matching accessories, and carried a bouquet of sweet rose.

Miss Mary Rypien looked charming in an ankle-length dress of pale green satin, with silver accessories, and carried a bouquet of pink and red carnations. Miss Violet Sapets was lovely in a pale green dress of pale blue taffeta, with silver accessories, and carrying a bouquet of pink and red carnations.

Following the ceremony, the party, along with forty guests, gathered at the home of the bride's parents in East Coleman, where the reception was held.

The happy couple will reside in Hillcrest, where the groom is employed by Hillcrest Collieries. The best wishes of all their friends are extended to them in their venture on the seas of matrimony.

"THE CROWD ROARS"

NOTE: This program will not be shown in Coleman.

He spoke at length of the co-operative movement in the Maritimes and which is now causing widespread interest throughout Canada and the eastern United States. Going behind the scenes he gave a word to the small number of men with names such as McPherson, McDonald and other names with a Scottish twang, who started people to think and act for themselves in the preparing and launching of fact. This as a result of that movement started by a group of Scotsmen, 200,000 persons in the Maritimes are engaged in the co-operative business with over 1,000 other persons dependent on it now finding business. He remarked that if the common people of the world would only think for themselves, the chaos now threatening would never exist.

A starry array of talented artists entertained the gathering during the evening, including Miss Isa Ramsey, songs, "Hans o' Mine" and "Ye Banks and Braes o' Bannockburn"; Mr. E. Banks, poems, "The Land of Eden" and "Garden of Eden"; Rev. A. E. Larke, songs, "Star o' Robbie Burns" and "Bonnie Lass o' Ballochmyle"; Miss Mary Kerr, poetry, "To a Daisy" and "Cuddie Doon"; Mrs. Richard Upson, songs, "The Land of the Free"; Stan Chakowski, violin; and the accordion artist of the day, Mr. John Anderson rendered several old Scottish tunes on his accordion.

Coleman Won 3-2 Against Turner Valley Oilers

Hard Ice Provides Finest Game of Season. Which Thrilled Spectators.

In a second period assault, which saw them wipe out a first-period goal deficit, Canadians rapped home two goals to take a one-goal lead and maintain it in the third period to gain a 3-2 decision over Turner Valley Oilers on Monday evening. The win kept Canadians in pace with the high-flying Olds Elks, who also gained a victory over the luckless Calgary Stampeders.

The Fraser-McKillop-Stark line scored all Coleman's tallies, and each of the trio picked up an assist, while Joyce, with brilliant play-making rushes, was credited with two assists. Stan Chakowski and Cairns scored for the Oilers, Atkinson being credited with two assists and Davis one.

McKillop was probably the speediest man on the ice. His dazzling stickhandling and speed had Roche on the hop practically all evening. All the local players showed their determination to get back into a play-off berth as they set about, especially in the second period, to administer a defeat to the second-place Oilers. Had it not been for the sensational goal-keeping of Roche in the second period, Coleman would have taken an easy six-goal lead. His work bordered on the miraculous as wave after wave of Canadians' attack shot from point to point.

A penalty to Craddock gave Oilers a chance to break away from a Canadian power-play. Davis and Atkinson assisted on a goal scored by Stan Chakowski. Three minutes later, a scrimmage in front of Roche allowed Joyce to pass out to Fraser in the clear, who shot a bullet drive low into the net. It proved the winning counter. Canadians held the Oilers in check when the latter team made frantic efforts in the last few minutes to equalize. Roche, while not having the work of Roche, was called upon on several occasions and kept the Oilers at bay on several dangerous Canadians' attack shot from point to point.

The Refugee Problem

The result of representations recently made to the federal government, the people of this country, through their representatives in Parliament, are likely to be faced in the immediate future with the question of deciding a problem which may be fraught with important consequences to the future welfare of the Dominion.

The question referred to is that of giving admission and accepting into citizenship a percentage of the estimated 1,300,000 refugees and victims of political persecution now in Germany, former Austria and Czechoslovakia. While the estimate of 1,300,000 has been given, there is reason to believe that the figure is underestimated and may reach 1,500,000 as more information becomes available and the transfer of these unfortunates to safer harbors goes well under way.

Of the estimated number to be transferred to other countries as at the end of 1938, it is reported that about 600,000 are Jews, the balance being non-Aryan Christians, Czechoslovak and political and religious refugees.

The question has been brought to the front in this country by the Canadian National Committee on Refugees and Victims of Political Persecution, headed by Senator Cairine Wilson which stated in their brief to the government that they "are not urging any large scale mass immigration, but a generous policy in admitting carefully selected individuals or groups of refugees to sanctuary on Canadian soil."

In view of the fact that in more recent years there has been a strong body of public opinion in Western Canada opposed to letting down the barriers, even to British immigration on a colonization basis, the question is one which deserves very careful consideration in the light of all facts available and of the probable results before any definite decision is reached.

Factors To Be Considered

While the humanitarian aspect of the question is one which undoubtedly will weigh heavily in the minds of a great many people, there are other factors which must also be given consideration and these are economic, social and political facets of the problem.

That the national committee has carefully weighed these phases of the question is quite evident in the brief submitted to the government, for on these bases they have presented some strong arguments in support of their plea for permitting a substantial number of these outcasts to seek refuge in this country and to give them an opportunity to rehabilitate themselves in Canada.

Considering the question from an economic standpoint, the committee points out for example that many of them have been able to save some of their capital, that many of them are highly educated business and professional men and have the initiative and courage to start and develop new industries; that their ranks include skilled artisans in pottery, glassware, fine leatherwork, many forms of chemicals, specialized textiles and dyes, and other specialized wares for which there are world markets; and that with their capital they will be in a position not only to create new industries but to give employment to some of our own unemployed. In support of this contention the committee states that 11,000 refugee Jews who have migrated to Great Britain have established industries giving employment to 15,000 Englishmen heretofore unemployed.

To what extent immigrants of this class, if permitted to enter, would settle in Western Canada, it would be difficult to say, though undoubtedly some of them would gravitate to the west. The degree to which they could bring to bear upon the development of the natural resources and convert them into useful products and the extent to which they could make use of their skilled knowledge in such fields would determine their value to the country. Some of the professional men undoubtedly would be in a position to make some contributions to the sum of scientific knowledge and practice.

"The technical skill of the Czechoslovak refugees from the Sudeten areas," the committee reports, "is based upon long training in one of the finest technical systems in the world which demanded eight years school education, three years apprenticeship and the completion of rigid examinations. From such sources," the committee adds, "would be selected the expatriates who would be permitted to enter Canada under the conditions which would ensure that they would not become charges upon the public."

Not A Subversive Influence

As for the political consequences of such immigration, it is pointed out that at least the greater majority of these refugees are in their present plight because they are supporters of the democratic form of government to which Canada is heir and to which the people of this country subscribe and it is, therefore, a reasonable assumption that they are not likely to be a disturbing political element nor to lend their support to those who would upset the Canadian form of government, especially after their experience in the old world.

As intimated at the outset the question is one which is deserving of careful consideration since it appears likely that some policy towards these people will have to be evolved in the near future. If they are to be allowed to come to these shores and to make their home here, it is essential that it be on the basis of careful selectivity, to ensure that results in the future will not be regrettable.

Harmless If Left Alone

Octopus Will Not Attack Unless It Becomes Frightened

Next time you are deep sea diving and an octopus meets up with you, hide your bare hands under your armpits, says W. L. Clark, in the Windsor Star.

The octopus extends its feelers to find food. If it reaches you, and does not touch actual flesh, it will draw away and not attack. But, if you should draw away while the tentacle is touching you, the octopus at once becomes frightened and starts to ensnare you with its feelers. And as the tentacles equipped with vacuum cupped devices, an octopus can keep clinging until after death.

The octopus is not dangerous, if it is left alone. But, like so many frightened animals, it will fight when cornered.

Russians Buy Bananas

Bananas are being sold on the streets of Moscow for the first time since the Great War. Thousands of young people who never had seen a banana before longed to marvel at the fruit. They stood in line to buy samples at 7½ rubles a pound (about $1.50 at the official exchange rate). The bananas came in a 150,000-pound shipment from Colombia.

Italian poultry vendors never deal in other meats. They sell the rooster combs separately.

Human paths often are used as roads by ants.

Using New Method

Cinders Or Gravel Provide Bed For Flowers And Vegetables

Plants and flowers grown without soil might seem naturally to most gardeners, but that is not what is being done in one London Ont. greenhouse. Magnificent roses, stately pink carnations, geraniums, snapdragons, larkspur and begonias are flourishing in beds of cinders and crushed quartz rock.

If all this seems puzzling, the answer is "nutrient solution methods of greenhouse crop production." That's the scientific name for this method of plant growth. Donald Gedike, in charge of the Goodhams Greenhouse in Broughdale, told how horticulturists some day expect to be able to dispense with soil altogether and raise flowers, plants and vegetables solely by means of carefully balanced chemical solutions. The work is unique in the Dominion and only in a few places in the United States are similar experiments going on.

Supply And Demand

The Toronto Star says Canada had 37,000,000 pounds of butter on hand in nine principal cities on December 1. In Germany the population has been rationed down to an allowance of a quarter of a pound per week.

The people of the world could have plenty of every useful product if civilization learned how to distribute what the world is capable of producing.

There must be some truth in the old saying that this is a small world. At least it is not large enough to accommodate all the people who would like to leave Germany.

New Zealand eats more meat and butter per capita than any other nation in the world.

TEMPTATION TO CRIMINALS

TOO MANY REVOLVERS IN THE HANDS OF PRIVATE CITIZENS

The Commissioner of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, recording in his annual report registration under the law of 168,389 pistols and revolvers in private ownership, asks their owners seriously to consider "whether they have any really good reason for retaining these weapons."

As Commissioner Wood points out, pistols and revolvers "are the cause of many fatal accidents in homes," and "are the source from which criminals derive by their arms with which to commit other crimes." In many instances, he says, through the present registration law, it has been possible to trace back to their original owners weapons in the possession of men put under arrest, perhaps a thousand miles away.

The Commissioner reports that registration of revolvers is proving of value "far beyond expectation" in the tracking down of criminals, and that is so much to the good. But obviously so long as this enormous source of supply remains in existence guns will find their way to criminal hands and crime will flourish. Owners of registered weapons should give thought to the Commissioner's words. Do they feel they are justified in retaining these guns, which serve no useful purpose in Canadian civil life and are a constant temptation to criminals?—Ottawa Journal.

AGE OF MANITOBA

JUDGED BY METALLIC ELEMENTS THE PROVINCE IS QUITE ANCIENT

Geologists have found a way of estimating the age of the earth by calculating the rate at which the metallic element uranium in pitchblende disintegrates into helium and lead. Judged by such measurements, pitchblende, discovered in Manitoba, is 1,770,000,000 years old!

Another test, using thorium, a rare earth metal which is also radioactive, gives an age for Manitoba rocks of 1,750,000,000 years.—Winnipeg Tribune.

REVENUE FROM SCRAP

By dividing the country into 22 districts, Finnish students since last March have succeeded in collecting nearly 5,000 tons of scrap metal, over two tons of rags, five tons of oil bottles, and 60 tons of waste paper. The funds obtained from the sale will be devoted to providing the air force with additional machines.

PIGEON FLEW WRONG WAY

Released in Holland to fly to Denmark, a homing pigeon died instead of east and was found exhausted in Berwickshire, England. The bird was cured for until able to resume its flight. The finder attached his card to its leg. Word has been received in Berwickshire from the owner saying the pigeon reached home safely.

France Is Alarmed At Prospects Of A Fascist Front In Spain

Paris.—The prospects that General Franco will subdue the last resistance in Catalonia and establish a Fascist frontier along the entire length of the Pyrenees mountains has evoked considerable alarm regarding French security in the Mediterranean.

This fear, however, is tempered by various factors. The question of France reopening her frontier, to allow the shipment of armaments to loyalist Spain, is now liquidated, thus automatically removing the fear that the Daladier cabinet would be defeated when the issue was debated in the Chamber, especially in view of the prospect of an early showdown in the Mediterranean quarrel as Mussolini is now expected to finally break the tension and reveal his hand.

Certainly, what the Rome-Berlin axis intends to demand as its price for "appeasement" in the Mediterranean will be a welcome change to the uncertainty and doubts resulting from II Duce's policy to date which has consisted of keeping France and Britain completely in the dark.

Some reports reaching Paris from Italy prefer the belief that Mussolini will inaugurate a period of real conciliation dating from the entry of Italian legions into Barcelona. Some observers, however, are unable to reconcile this with the repeated declarations of Fascist determination to obtain "justice" from France or with calling up of 60,000 Italian troops.

The French high command itself is taking all precautions resulting from the changed strategical situation caused by Franco's advance. Thirty thousand French youths, who normally were not due for military service until October, have been called to the colors. This means that the French army will be at peak strength by spring time, when, according to many informed sources, the next big international crisis is slated to occur.

Out Of Labor Party

Sir Stafford Cripps Expelled For Favoring Popular Front

London.—National executive of the Labor party voted to expel Sir Stafford Cripps, Socialist leader, from the party.

Reason for the expulsion was Sir Stafford's leadership of a campaign in favor of a popular front of all factions opposing Prime Minister Chamberlain's foreign policy. He had continued this drive despite the opposition of the Labor party itself to such a popular front.

Miss Ellen Wilkinson, Labor member of parliament, cast the lone vote in favor of Sir Stafford, formerly a member of the executive.

Britain's Invincibility Is Proclaimed By Sir Samuel Hoare

Swansea, Wales.—Sir Samuel Hoare, home secretary, proclaimed the "Invincibility of Great Britain and the British Empire" and denounced European political "jitterbugs" who are "waiting helplessly for the crash that according to them will destroy us all."

He called for a national response to the country's defense preparations and asserted: "This great country and this great empire can never be defeated."

Britain's economic and financial position and the Royal navy are her two greatest assets, he said. The financial and economic system had proved through years of trial it is the most stable in the world."

The fleet had adapted itself to new war technique, declared Sir Samuel, a former first lord of the admiralty. "The proper use of its air force by the navy itself will extend rather than diminish British sea power."

He denounced timid panic mongers who are asking themselves when a world war is going to start as "a world nuisance."

Appealing for protection against political "jitterbugs", he said:

Farewell To Bennett

Former Prime Minister Sails For England On Liner Montcalm

Saint John, N.B.—Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett is a bachelor but when he sailed the liner Montcalm for a voyage to his new home in England the former prime minister of Canada was covered with confetti and streamers in true Anglo-Saxon fashion.

At 11 a.m. Mr. Bennett became engaged in a party sending off a pair of newlyweds. As he started up the gangway he received some of the confetti thrown at the couple. He turned and smilingly waved a swifly. This was taken as a signal for a bombardment in his direction.

Mr. Bennett hurried to the steamship directly from a luncheon given by Lieutenant-Governor Murray MacLaren, but despite his rush the liner was kept waiting a few minutes for him. The Montcalm was delayed a few more minutes so photographers could take pictures of Mr. Bennett on the bridge.

"We are sorry to see you go," said one photographer. "We are losing both a subject and a good photographic subject."

"I expected you fellows would say something like that," laughed Mr. Bennett.

Allotment Is Increased

Government Subsidies Of $70,000 For Canadian Amateur Flying Clubs

Ottawa.—The Dominion government will continue its subsidy to amateur flying clubs across the Dominion with a $10,000 increase over last year's allotment for fostering flying among Canadian youth, according to estimates tabulated in the House of Commons.

The transport department will ask parliament for $70,000 for grants to flying clubs in 1939-40, compared with $60,000 last year. Included in the grant, as last year, is a special grant of $5,000 to the Canadian Flying Clubs Association.

Growth of the national network of airways has made necessary a greater appropriation for radio, weather bureau, lighting and airport facilities. Vote for airway services "brought the total advance to $5,225,540, an increase of $438,084 compared with $5,389,456 last year.

Just A Little Test

Berlin.—Julius Streicher, Germany's principal Jew-baiter, warned German Jews as an anti-Semitic and the burning of synagogues and plundering of Jewish stores last November was "just a little test." Through it one could learn to know one's neighbors, declared Streicher.

Czech Loan

London.—Great Britain will extend an additional £2,000,000 (about $8,360,000) credit to Czechoslovakia, raising the total advance to £12,000,000 under the terms of an agreement reached recently.

The New Democracy

Convinced That The Old Economic Order Must Be Changed

Ottawa.—A movement has already been started in Canada of men and women convinced that if there is to be prosperity the old economic order must be changed, Hon. W. D. Herdige, former Canadian minister to Washington, told the Men's Association of Chalmers United church here.

Fascism is "a monster in the world trampling our civilization down," said Canada, and fight it from within by bringing prosperity to its people. It should fight it from without by uniting the British Empire and United States in an Anglo-Saxon union.

"In these last few months I have travelled widely in Canada," he continued. "I found poverty and unemployment everywhere . . .

"I found far-flung, fierce determination to prevail. Our people are resolved to have prosperity. The issue is security, justice and freedom. Faith must stand or fall with it. In this country there begins a mighty forward movement. It is a movement of the people: classless, for every class belongs to it."

"This movement has been prepared by the people. To-day you find this movement everywhere. It is in our churches. Our social and economic institutions already feel the heat of it. Labor and the farmers acknowledge its vitality.

"I call this movement the new democracy. I believe that it is on its way to prosperity. We must put everything we have into this movement. It will be the supreme effort of the individual will in free association with its fellows. The time for action is propitious."

The new spirit and movement in the Dominion—the new democracy will provide a plan to defend the Empire against Fascism with the Empire, he continued. First we will put the Canadian house in order by increasing distribution to the level of potential production and provide security. When Canada had the highest standard of living to which it was entitled, that fact would move the whole Empire toward a new high level and Fascism within the Empire would be driven out.

More Than Necessary

National Unity Likely To Become Vital States Anthony Eden

London, Eng.—Anthony Eden, making his second speech to his constituents in 24 hours, warned that national unity "is not only necessary now, but it may become vital at any moment."

The former foreign secretary had formerly attacked Fascist intervention in Spain and called for a firm Anglo-French stand in the Mediterranean.

"The charge of warmongering is one that ought never to be heard in this country," he said. "For there are no individuals here and no political party who want war."

Party divisions in Britain are becoming much less marked, Mr. Eden said, because the electorate is interested as never before in problems of foreign policy. Under these circumstances there was something fictitious in positions adopted by the various parties, and something even more fictitious in partisan attacks made by some quarters.

Declares A Stronger Britain Is The Best Guarantee Of Peace

London.—Britain's greatest opportunity is to act as Europe's mediator, Sir John Simon told a Durham audience as government concern mounted over the European situation.

"A stronger Britain is the best guarantee for peace," said the chancellor of the exchequer while other cabinet ministers in speeches or published statements reviewed Britain's growing armament.

Meantime a powerful group of 10 naval officers issued an appeal to Germany to join in an effort to end international enmity. Sent by radio, the appeal called upon Chancellor Hitler and the German people to banish "the spectre of war and enmity between nations."

Britain's determination to be ready should a fresh crisis develop was signified in the appointment announced in the London Gazette of Major-General H. O. B. Wemyss as director of mobilization. He had been assistant adjutant-general at the war office. His job will be to prepare for a speedy and efficient mobilization of manpower if need arises.

Simultaneously, it was reliably learned, Prime Minister Chamberlain is bringing Lord Chatfield, for many years the "strong man of the Royal Navy," into his cabinet in the key post of minister for co-ordination of defense.

Sir John Simon declared in his Durham speech that "formidable as our gun power is," there are other factors of great importance, especially Britain's financial strength, which "so often has been a decisive influence and remains as important a weapon of defence as ever before."

Sir Samuel Hoare, home secretary, opened the ministerial speaking campaign at Swanscombe when he asserted: "When I say that this great country and this great empire can never be defeated I am not playing with phrases or using rhetoric for effect."

Sir Kingsley Wood, air secretary, in a speech at a factory at Reading, with the declaration increasing production facilities probably would enable Britain to treble her supply of war planes in 1939.

Malcolm MacDonald, dominion and colonial secretary, said Britain should show the power, unity and determination "while there is still peace, so that it may deter the would-be aggressor." He spoke at Leeds.

Earl Stanhope, first lord of the admiralty, wrote in "Home and Empire," the Conservative party organ, that Britain was building naval craft at the rate of one a week and in emergency could put 15 battleships and more than 400 other units into battle, not counting auxiliary merchantmen and trawlers. Britain's superiority in battleships over any other power will materially increase in the next two or three years, he said.

To Advertise Canada

Canadian Travel Bureau Will Seek Tourists From Britain And U.S.

Ottawa.—The $65,000 increased outlay planned for the Canadian travel bureau will be spent for additional advertising in United States and Great Britain, G. D. Howe, minister of transport, said.

In the main estimates tabled in the commons it was disclosed the travel bureau figure was $315,000 for the 1939-40 fiscal year, compared with $250,000 this year.

Mr. Howe said due to the increased travel likely induced by the world's fairs in New York and San Francisco this summer, the bureau will spend a substantial sum in advertising Canadian tourist attractions in American newspapers and magazines and on promotion work.

Ukrainian Problem

Saskatoon.—Conviction that the Ukrainian national problem must be settled before European peace could be achieved, was expressed by Professor G. W. Simpson of the University of Saskatchewan history department, in an address before the live stock breeders' banquet, held here.

The world, he said, is no longer anything to worry about in that regard. Mr. Spence said. It could now be stated with assurance that there was no longer a "dust bowl" in the Canadian west.

Program and policies of the Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Act were founded upon bedrock of actual farming and ranching, and it had been established that polities for which parliament had been asked to vote money were not based on mere theory.

Daladier Says French-Italian Differences Are Nearing Climax

Paris.—Premier Edouard Daladier says that French-Italian differences are "racing toward a climax."

His declaration followed a disclosure France and Great Britain had agreed on "the necessary measures" to counter any Italian refusal to withdraw from Spanish territory at the end of the civil war, and an assertion by Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet that Mediterranean issues might soon become "a question of force."

Daladier addressed the chamber of deputies at the end of 10 days of foreign affairs debate and the chamber stood as one man to cheer his declaration of firmness against Italian demands.

He won a unanimous vote of confidence in the government's "vigilance to protect the integrity of the French empire and the security of her imperial communications."

Daladier's speech was the most pessimistic he had made to France's legislators. It came as Italian crowds celebrating the fall of Barcelona renewed clamor for French territorial concessions.

The premier made two speeches—one in the chamber and earlier, before a meeting of his Radical-Socialist followers.

At the Radical-Socialist meeting he disclosed Anglo-French collaboration on steps to meet any failure of Premier Mussolini to keep his promise to withdraw from Spanish soil at the end of the war.

This disclosure followed Bonnet's foreign policy speech in the chamber. Bonnet asserted Britain was solidly behind France in face of "a question of force" which he said soon might arise from French-Italian friction.

"France has listened calmly to threatening words from Italy," Daladier told the chamber. "It is not everybody who can insult France."

"France has the force to allow her calmly to listen to such insults," he said. ". . . I demand that you join together solidly, as we approach the peril. . . ."

"I will not code a single piece of our land, nor a single one of our rights. . . . Any policy of retreat is impossible. . . ."

Daladier, speaking from the rostrum of the chamber, said, "Events are racing toward a climax. . . ."

"I recognize the courage of the Italian people. But the people of France cannot afford whether the consequences that her territorial integrity be touched in her North African empire or that the liberty of her Mediterranean communities be put in danger."

"At this moment France turns her thoughts particularly toward the great Anglo-Saxon nations which have given us their words to be at our side."

"British friendship is very precious to us and we think of United States whose president addressed words to us which touched us deeply."

He did not specify to what speech or message of President Roosevelt he referred.

Tell me the tone of our young people's thoughts and I will tell you the type of nation we'll have twenty years from now.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

THIRTY-THREE years ago the provinces of Saskatchewan and Alberta were granted provincial autonomy, their first provincial legislatures being elected in 1905. Since then provincial debts have increased enormously, with Federal taxation of an indirect nature now takes one quarter of the worker's income to pay. Municipal taxation has also increased in some instances over one hundred per cent.

SO burdensome is taxation becoming, that if it is not curtailed, Canada is on the rapid path to bankruptcy, according to George B. McCullagh, publisher of the Toronto Globe and Mail, whose series of broadcasts are arousing widespread interest throughout Canada, and whose next broadcast will be heard over CFCN next Sunday at 5:30 p.m.

NINE provincial governments in addition to the Federal government are an unnecessary burden. Political patronage and job-finding are running rampant, and eleven millions of people in Canada have far more government than have forty-five millions of people in Great Britain.

THOUGH rapid change has been made in every line of business enterprise in the past thirty-five years, the methods of government remain the same, when to meet changing conditions they too need changing. The time has come, in these days of rapid communication, when it is possible to greatly curtail the number of representatives in provincial legislatures, and thereby help to eliminate a lot of the expense which is entirely unnecessary. If Mr. McCullagh's broadcasts will arouse the people of Canada to action, he will have performed a most useful service and help to bring about an industrial revival which will solve the greatest problem Canada faces, that of unemployment and the reduction of taxation.

IN LOCAL AFFAIRS, this town has received absolutely nothing from either provincial or Federal governments, with the exception of the intermediate aerodrome built as a relief measure by the Federal government, giving employment to unemployed in the province, who in reality were the charges of the government. Coleman for years has never had a cent of government money expended on public buildings, and its post-office building is an example of being left out in the cold. A Federal building here would only represent a decimal fraction of the revenue the Federal government has received, and it is high time that persistent agitation is maintained until action is secured. It is an example of negligence on the part of local business men in not taking steps to impress on the Federal government the necessity for accommodation in keeping with the importance of the place, but that is no excuse for continuing in the doldrums. When places such as Cardston and Creston can secure government buildings costing $35,000 or $50,000 and Coleman with a payroll of almost a million and a half dollars annually, and a much bigger post-office revenue than any other town of its size in the province, is left with makeshift facilities, it is high time that we became imbued with a strong sense of injustice that such conditions should continue.

AS FAR as securing any thing from the provincial government is concerned, we have only to ask what has been done to this section of highway between Pass towns. Promises we have had a plenty from our member, one of the many superfluous ornaments of the legislature, the real work of which is carried on solely by the cabinet and in which the members have little say, not even in their own nominations, that little matter being determined by the premier, whose only concern as far as provincial representation is concerned is that he has a chorus of "yes-men" at Edmonton. That is one of the reasons that we might as well wipe out constituency representatives and have provincial affairs administered by ten men. It would eliminate a lot of political patronage and extravagance, for it is not the sessional indemnities that are the only expense, but the jobs the government provides keeping the members running over the province carrying on propaganda under the guise of committee for everything under the sun except that of lessening governmental expenditures.

DISHONEST repudiation of debts and quack monetary reforms are never going to get us out of the hole. Only useful employment which produces wealth can do that, and to talk of all kinds of mineral wealth in the province and in the territory that Premier Aberhart wants to have added to the provincial domain is so much "eye-wash." None of these things can be of value until labor and capital develop them, and the big problem for Federal and provincial governments to wrestle with is the reduction of taxation which will give capital and labor the opportunity to engage in productive enterprise instead of increasing taxation to the point of demoralization of business enterprise and individual effort.

UNITED action under a central government is needed instead of provincial premiers quibbling about provincial rights and talking of secession. Democracy has its liberties and privileges.

Shadow boxing of the provincial government continues. "Debt free money" is the latest demand. Of what value is anything that is free? Debt free money would be as valueless as the promises of a man who borrowed and never intended to repay. Of all the quack remedies proposed to remedy the ills of excessive taxation and lack of employment, this takes the cake.

WORLD HAPPENINGS BRIEFLY TOLD

British Columbia is reclaiming its unemployed youth through the Young Men's Forestry Training plan. E. W. Manning, chief forest ranger for that province, said at Ottawa.

Sir Frank Bowater, lord mayor of London, seated in full regalia in his state coach outside the Mansion house, held a wireless telephone conversation with Mayor Fiorello La Guardia in New York.

Old Religious Ceremony

Man Dives Into Icy Water To "Rescue" Cross

A 52-year-old storekeeper at Harrisburg, Pa., accepting cheerfully an ordeal from which younger men shied, volunteered to "rescue" a cross-symbol of Christianity—from the icy Susquehanna River in an enactment of a centuries-old religious ceremony.

Mato Atanasoff, widower and father of two children, took for himself the "privilege" of plunging into the river for the plain wooden cross a ritual by which the Macedonian-Bulgarian Orthodox Church celebrates the Epiphany, observance of Christ's baptism in Palestine's river Jordan nearly 2,000 years ago.

Atanasoff, clad in a bathing suit, dived for the cross at suburban Steelton. Upon emerging from the water, he received a priest's blessing and was guest of honor among his fellow parishioners at a banquet.

When Mechanism Failed

Prisoners Hold Consultation And Opened Safe For Warden

The problem of opening a safe when the mechanism failed was no problem at all at Jackson prison. Deputy Warden Ryan merely selected a group of prisoners whose records indicated certain mechanical ability in connection with safe opening, and in a few minutes the safe was unlocked. Ryan said the prisoners to a amazing degree represented a group of medical men in consultation as they discussed the easiest way of opening the safe.

In a lifetime man travels through space with the earth about 30 thousand million miles.

Of all the nations of the world, Great Britain eats most fruit and fish per capita.

Old Time Prospector

British Columbia Miner Who Saw Nearly A Century of Pioneering

Bill Brown, of Barkerville, B.C., is dead, behind him nearly 100 years of pioneering in 'Ontario and gold digging in British Columbia's Cariboo. The tall, broad-shouldered, white-bearded patriarch died in his cabin.

He nearly always prospected and mined alone, for no one else could keep up with him, and when he was employed as a snow tender at Devil's Canyon, his shovel had twice the capacity of any ever wielded in the North country.

To prepare for such stout work he spent his youth on the log drives between Smiths Falls and Kingston, in Ontario, before coming west 67 years ago.

He used to tell many a tale of Confederation debates when his hero was D'Arcy McGee. When he heard him speak in Bowles Tavern, at Westport, Ont., 72 years ago, he related that so eagerly did men hang on McGee's every word that tobacco chewers "swallowed" rather than try for the sawdust box so that they might not lose a syllable.

Downstream from Brown's cabin on the left bank of Williams Creek is the claim which in 1863 produced for John A. (Cariboo) Cameron, of Cornwall, Ont., three packhorse loads of gold.

He had lived on in his cabin, never discouraged, convinced that "gold is where you find it," and papered his walls until they were covered with newspapers, mostly the Toronto Weekly Globe, the latest dated 1894.

He was born just over 99 years ago at Holdays Corner, near Westport, Boxing Day, 1839. After coming to Barkerville he made only one trip out, that to Westport, in 1879. A sister still survives him there.

Unique Hockey League

Organize First Hockey League In The World For Blind Players

Pupils of the Ontario School for the Blind at Brantford have organized what is probably the first hockey league for blind players in the world. The organization is supervised by H. J. Valentine, principal of the school.

The league developed from skating, introduced into the curriculum some time ago. The pupils made the ring and took to skating enthusiastically. Boys who are totally blind use a tin can for a puck, and follow it with the sound of the puck as they have sight vision use a regulation puck.

There are two teams in each classification. The groups play on alternate days. Persons who have seen the games say they have all the vigor of a conventional hockey tilt.

"We haven't had a serious hospital case in 18 months," Principal Valentine said, "and I believe that skating, more than anything else, is responsible for this. It is a fuller, freer, more all-embracing exercise than blind students ever before had."

Shows A Decrease

Canadian wheat in store for the week ended Jan. 20 decreased 2,745,304 bushels from the previous week but increased 106,709,063 over the corresponding week last year, the Dominion bureau of statistics reported.

There are 950 motion picture theatres in the Dominion of Canada, an average of one theatre for every 11,000 of the population.

"Asia for the Asiatics" merely means Japan for the Japanese, Manchukuo for the Japanese and China for the Japanese.

Moscow Workers Watch Their Step Under New Editing

The girl went forward, her steps slowing as she approached the cot. Suddenly she went to her knees, her hands outstretched, hovering over him as though they longed to touch him, yet feared it. For a long time she remained silent, her crest gazing, her trembling, her intensity, all for him. But suddenly she broke.

Her hands clasped tightly. Her shoulders took a tense, shuddering stiffness. Her usually too-pretty lips trembled until they became almost tight.

"You can't die, Bruce," she cried. "You can't! God, God—what on earth will become of me if you die, Bruce? Can't you understand? What will become of me?"

CHAPTER XII

Afternoon became night, night became gray morning, yet Kenning did not leave Bruce Kenning's deathbed. Those who passed her saw in her features a conflict of emotions; terror was there, galling sorrow. Selfishness flared its way across her face, giving way to compassion. Anger stirred when Jeanne Towers, returning from a brief sleep, came back to duty. Gentleness ran its course and hardness followed; glittering eyes stared for long moments. Numb grief had its place, and self-pity. Bruce Kenning, she knew, could not live. At last, she bent forward, all but whispering.

"Bruce, Bruce dear. Can you hear me?"

The hungry, horribly patient eyes centred upon her. She sat silent, looking at him. This was his only means of expression. The hands were motionless, encased, as was most of his body, in bandages yellowed by

MEN LOVE PEP GIRLS WITH PEP

If you are peppy and full of fun, men will invite you to dances and parties.

But men are not all young and tired; men won't be interested. Men don't like "queer girls." When you go to parties they want girls who are "in" and "modern."

In case you need a good general system to pep up your girl, here is a suggestion. Your woman has told another how to "handle things" with Lynn E. Phillips' "Mentholatum Compound." It helps build up muscular resistance and thus aids in giving you more pep and more pep, and gives from female friends.

You'll find Phillips' Compound WELL WORTH TRYING!

picric acid. His head was a mass of stained white. Only the eyes remained, expressive, imploring, for the curse of death. Kay again leaned close.

"Move your eyes if you want to say 'yes.' Close them for 'no.' Do you understand?"

The eyes moved quickly. Kay Joice bit her lips. She looked about her; the man on the next cot was almost as badly burned as Kenning. For a long time she was silent. At last:

"Those claims? The ones of McKenzie Joe that you got from Jack. Were they in your cabin?"

The eyes said "No."

"Did you have them with you?"

The eyes replied in the negative.

"Then where are they?"

But the eyes could only stare. Words could not flow from that thickness that had closed in and seemed impotent. A long time passed. The girl was silent, as if fighting for the strength to go on. At last the selfish look again came into her eyes, mingling querulously with compassion. She pressed her lips close to the bandages about his ears.

"Jack said they were recorded. Were they?"

The eyes moved in the affirmative. Again she leaned back, silent in thought.

The big room echoed with activity. From far at the end came the ceaseless groaning of a sufferer, unable to suppress his agony. The man on the next cot lay heavily in fevered sleep. Kay Joice's well-formed hands began to knit, finger weaving within finger.

"Bruce! she begged. "Bruce dear—you always said you'd take care of me."

The eyes assured her.

"If—if anything should happen to you—"

Again he let her know, by the only means that he possessed, that he understood. A break came into her voice.

"I just can't face life," she said brokenly, "without something!" Her tongue ran over lips pale from lack of sarmine. The hands knit more rapidly. "If you married me, Bruce—"

The eyes moved swiftly. The girl turned, only to stiffen.

"Here comes Jack Hammond," said a frontier nurse at the window. "That ought to cheer up that Towers girl."

"She needs something." Another member of the Frontier corps had joined her. "God knows, she'd have little else, the way she's been working."

Kay sank back in her chair, queerly frightened. She kept telling herself over and over again that she must wait—Hammond must not know about this—he'd guess why she was doing it—

But Jack Hammond had no idea of what was going on at Bruce Kenning's boudoir.

Somewhat rested after long labors, he stood on the steps of the pavilion, looking back over the valley.

The fire was dead—buried under eight inches of snow from beneath which it still steamed impotently. What trees remained were beautiful in filigree silver. The slopes of the giant hills were serrations of reddish earth and smooth white, the calm expression which looked down upon the gaunt place which once had been Sapphire. But even now hammers were sounding. Fires burned in front of tents. There were huge ruts in the snow, where man power and the dogs which had escaped the forest fire dragged logs to the building of new cabins. Here and there a plowman was working. Intermittently, an airplane roared out of a leaden ceiling and dropped down to the lake, heavy with new supplies. The snowball had ceased, but the clouds which had brought it still lingered, forming again for another rainfall.

Hammond went up the steps and into the pavilion. Sergeant Terry was there, a match to his black pipe.

"How goes the battle?" the prosector asked.

"Partly good. Partly bad. A couple of new pneumonia cases. And it looks like Kenning's going to save us the cost of a trial."

"Has he talked yet?"

"Can't. Won't. Tongue too swollen."

A girl passed, heavily laden with dishes from the kitchen. Hammond leaped to aid her. It was Jeanne Towers.

"Thanks," she said with a smile.

"Not much of a haisher."

"You had enough there for two men to carry," the man said.

"Did it? I didn't notice."

As he waited beside her, Jack remembered that she had said many things like this during the long hours. That she didn't notice it, either, when another nurse should have been helping her to turn a suffering patient in his bed; that she didn't notice that she was carrying a double armful of wood for the big stove,

One in a Family

Young Boy Who Had The Ambition To Accomplish Things

"In every family," said the relief worker, "there is likely to be at least one person—quite often a child—who makes our efforts worth while."

The worker cited a "Slabtown" family with eight children. The father was lazy and alcoholic; the mother was bedraggled, had lost her pride, could do no more than get through the housework and that not well.

The old boy was 14 now too bright and could not fix his mind on any one thing. The second child, a girl, 13, was colorless but what she was able to do to help her mother in the house.

Then there was a nine-year-old boy who seemed, from his manner and activity, to have been dropped into the family without rhyme or reason. He took it upon himself to provide fuel, and organize his younger brothers and sisters to help. They found a friendly wheelbarrow, a wheelbarrow and hand wagon. Twice a day they made the rounds of the neighborhood, visiting in particular a plant that had packing cases to discard.

They never returned home without at least part of a load and usually a full one. They kept the basement piled with wood. The relief worker said the sight of this lad with his laden wagon, and the smaller brothers and sisters pulling or pushing as they could, to be recompensed for everything in his rounds that appeared utterly hopeless.

Lincoln also came like that—inexplicably in a family that to-day would be on relief.

"Why don't you go away?"

"I don't mean to annoy you."

The girl's lips tightened.

"Coming by to gloat, when a man can't defend himself?"

Hammond longed to snap out that regardless of Kenning's state, she was still able to offer rebuttal, but he refrained. This was a different Kay from the surc, almost patronizing person who had flown in here, sleek, well-groomed only a few months before. Now, there were hollows beneath her eyes; even her hair seemed to have lost some of its glint. A certain sympathy swept Hammond for her; he was glad of it, glad that the bitterness was gone.

"I'm sorry, Kay," he said slowly. "I won't do anything to hurt you."

The girl had not heard him. She turned swiftly back to the cot, watching intently.

"Get Sergeant Terry!" she commanded, in a queer voice.

"Sergeant Terry?"

She straightened, railing.

"Get Sergeant Terry! Go get Sergeant Terry! Can't you see Bruce is dying?"

A glaze had come into the man's eyes. Hammond ran from the room, returning in a moment with the sergeant. Kay stood beside the cot, straight and stolid.

"Sergeant," she said in a thin voice, "you have the right of a just voice?"

"Yes, in some things."

"Marriage?"

She spoke slowly.

"Will you marry Bruce Kenning and me?"

The sergeant appeared puzzled.

"Does he—that is—"

"Ask him. He can answer with his eyes. He moves them for 'yes,' closes them for 'no.' Confirm it and ask him. Only please hurry."

"Yes, of course," the sergeant bent close with his queries.

Bruce Kenning slowly moved his head.

"Hurry, Sergeant," the girl pleaded.

A front-line nurse was passing. The sergeant caught her by the arm.

"Wait a minute, please," he commanded, and with a gesture indicated that Jack also was to remain as a witness.

Then, brokenly, from memory, he began to repeat the passages of the wedding ceremony:

"Do you, Bruce Kenning, take this woman for your lawful wife?"

Millions Of Caribou

Many Migrating Herds In The Northern Parts Of Prairie Provinces

Latest estimates place the number of caribou in migratory herds in the northwest territories and northern parts of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta at 3,000,000. Dr. C. H. D. Clarke, of the Dominion department of mines and resources, told an international conference of wild life experts at Ottawa.

Former estimates had placed the number at between 30,000,000 and 100,000,000, he said, but these figures had been discarded as unacceptable. The new estimate was made by comparing the carrying capacity of Alberta's射程 ground.

Dr. Clarke reported the caribou were maintaining their numbers, and if unnatural destructive factors, particularly destruction of their forage by fire, could be controlled, the number of caribou should be well maintained.

"Hurry, Sergeant," the girl pleaded.

"BANG'S DISEASE"

HUMAN BEINGS contract a mysterious fever, which puzzled the medical profession for a long time, by eating (or sometimes even handling—with a cut on the finger) uncooked meat, or drinking milk from herds which have "Bang's Disease."

THIS DISEASE in cattle and hogs is at this date fairly widespread on the North American continent.

TO DATE there is no known cure for it, though several serums are in the experimental stage.

ASK your doctor about it!

PASTEURIZATION kills the germs of Bang's Disease. That is another reason why it is properly called "SAFE MILK."

CURLING NOTES

Executives from the Coleman, Blairmore and Bellevue curling clubs will meet at Blairmore on Friday evening to discuss plans for the forthcoming Studebaker-Pontiac bonspiel which will be played at Coleman starting Feb. 13. It is expected two more trophies will be offered for competition which would make this local 'spiel almost as large as the C.N.P. 'spiel which concluded at Bellevue last week.

Not satisfied with winning two prizes at the C.N.P. bonspiel last week, the Hogan rink came home to clinch the local club's major event, the McGillivray Cup competition, by defeating the Rippon rink who were their closest rivals. Now that this event has been decided the teams are battling for the Merchants' Cup, the club's second prize.
